Named as the Next President of the United States.

Who Is the Lucky Man That Is to Be His Running Mate?

A CLOSE CONTEST.

The Race for Vice-President Promises to Make an Interesting Contest.

Gray, Stevenson, Mitchell and Morse all Talked of for the Place.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 23.—After all night session that ended with the triumphant nomination of Cleveland on the first ballot, as told elsewhere in to-day's DEMOCRAT, the delegates were slow to assemble this afternoon.

The candidates most frequently mentioned for vice-president to-day are Gray of Indiana, Stevenson of Illinois, Mitchell of Iowa and Morris of Michigan.

There is a strong effort to bring out Boies as a vice-presidential candidate.

New York is rather antagonistic to Gray, the delegates freely expressing a preference for anybody rather than the Indiana man.

With the votes allowed the territories it requires 607 votes to nominate.

The session of the convention now going on will finish its labors with all probability.

Nominating speeches are being made at 4 o'clock p. m., in the midst of a heavy rain storm that almost drowns the voices of the speakers.

BUILDING IN DANGER.

The Story Central Building on Ohio Street Declared Unsafe.

What promises to be a disastrous accident is found in the present condition of the three story building, No. 412 Ohio street, the property of J. West Goodwin, and which is now being fitted up for his office.

It has been his intention to place a concrete floor in the basement which will be used as a press room. In preparing for this, a quantity of dirt was taken from beneath the foundation on the north side. The front of the ground floor had also been changed and the northeast corner made to rest upon a single iron pillar.

The excavation was thought to be perfectly safe, but yesterday, part of the northeast corner began to settle down and in this way threw an immense weight upon the pillar. The strain was too great and the pillar began to bend and give every evidence of collapsing. Work was stopped and a fence placed around the building to give warning of the danger.

The structure is liable to fall at any minute, and again may stand for years.

Electric Line in Good Condition.

The electric line is now in capital shape and Forest park is thronged with pleasure-seekers. Trailers are now attached to the motor cars for the accommodation of all. Cars leave the city every half hour.

THE GAMBLING CASES.

Sixteen of Them Convicted and the Treasury Increased Ninety Dollars.

The gambling cases came up in the police court this morning before Recorder Rauck and sixteen men were convicted. Lack of definite evidence compelled the city to dismiss the charges against a number of others.

All of them were fined $52 each, but the question then came up as to what the city would do with them. This amount would send the whole gang to the calaboose and be a loss to the city in feeding them.

A cash payment of $5 each secured a stay of $20 for fourteen of them, while one of the remaining two paid $20 and the other $10. The city secured $90.

A drunken printer paid $5 for his fun and was released.

M. S. CONNOR DEAD.

An Old Sedalia Man Passes Peacefully Away on the Pacific Coast.

Information reached this city yesterday announcing the death of M. S. Connor at Cloverdale, California. Counting the time required for a letter to reach here, Mr. Connor must have died about one week ago. The letter gave no dates nor particulars of the death, though it was known that he had been suffering from a paralytic stroke received about one year ago.

Deceased was well known in this section of Missouri, having up to the time of his departure for the west five years ago, been a resident of Pettis county. Indeed for a large number of years he was identified with the public interests of the county and held several offices of public trust. In 1880 he was elected to the office of sheriff and for two consecutive terms made an exemplary officer. Prior to this he was constable of Sedalia township for four years. Mr. Connor was a native of Scott county, Kentucky, and came to Sedalia from Cooper county.

He was a good citizen—industrious, enterprising and possessed of a high sense of honor, he enjoyed the esteem and confidence of a large number of Missourians who will be sorely pained to hear of his death.

Mr. Connor was about 65 years of age. A wife, who is the sister of Dr. Conkright of this city, and four children, all sons, survive to mourn his loss. Three of the sons, James, Fred and Allen, reside in the same state with their father where they are engaged in the various pursuits of life, while John Connor lives in Sedalia and is an official of the M., K. & T. railroad.

ALMOST SAW THE ANGELS.

A Young Man Lights a Match to Examine an Alcohol Can.

A young man named Snell, employed at Bard's drug store on Maine street, made an experiment early last evening that came near decreasing the clerical force of Sedalia.

He was engaged in filling a ten gallon can with alcohol from a barrel. When the can was nearly filled he forgot how many gallons had been poured in and, thinking that it already might be full, feared that he would run it over. Being of a very inventive turn of mind, the idea struck him to light a match and look into the can.

It was no quicker thought than done. Billy Bard thought that an iron foundry had fallen through the roof. A close examination showed that the young fellow would have little prospect for whiskers during the next ten years, his eyebrows were gone and the hair on the right side of his head had gone "up the flue." The villain had done its work.

Selling at Cost.

O. B. Clum, at 507 Ohio, has decided to quit the grocery business, owing to the failing—of health, and offers the entire stock of staple and fancy groceries in quantities to suit the purchaser at cost. Bargain seekers take notice. Or will trade for a small residence.

In the Hands of a Trustee.

The cigar manufactory of H. J. Kelly, maker of the "Out of Sight" brand, No. 112 East Second, was taken possession of this morning by John R. Clouton as trustee, and the doors closed until an adjustment is made with creditors.

Jail Release.

George Miller and Clinton Bartlett, two white boys, were released from jail to-day after an eight days' confinement for jumping on cars. Paul Dresden, a "vag," was let out after staying behind the bars ten days.

Mrs. Bard Better.

Mrs. W. E. Bard, who accompanied her husband to the pharmaceutical convention at Pertle Springs and was there taken seriously ill, is much improved and will be able to come home in a few days.

Warrensburg Talent.

Harry Swearingin, James Roach, George Gilpatrick and George Partin, salaried members of the Warrensburg ball team, came down this morning to assist the two nines at the charity game this afternoon.

DENISON WRECK.

A REAR END COLLISION BUT NO ONE KILLED.

The Cars Take Fire From Burning Oil and an Exciting Scene Ensues.

The collision on the M., K. & T. at 3:55 yesterday morning about 1 1/2 miles north of Denison, Texas, on the M., K. & T. was a disastrous one in which a number of lives came near being lost and much valuable railroad property was destroyed. The loss has been estimated at $200,000, but this is undoubtedly much in excess of the real amount.

It seems that a large freight train in charge of Conductor Breeding was going up a hill when it was found that the engine was unable to pull it. At any rate, the train stopped and a flagman was sent back to flag south bound passenger train No. 3 which was then almost due.

There are many conflicting stories as to why the signal was not obeyed and nothing but official investigation will bring out the true cause. However as this may be, the passenger train came plunging into the caboose with a crash that made the

and then rolled into a barbed wire fence, cutting himself severely and receiving internal injuries that may prove quite serious. Mr. Bixby was thrown the whole length of the car and has his right leg contused and several ribs perhaps broken, though his physician has not definitely determined the latter. When the cry of burning oil arose, he jumped from the car, rooled down an embankment and struck a telegraph pole. On regaining his feet, he started to save the mail, and, by the assistance of others, succeeded in placing it in a place of safety. His clothing was badly burned in doing it. Mr. Williams was also considerably bruised.

The baggage car in front of them, an unusual thing, is all that saved the boys from a terrible death. The fact that the mail was already "tied out" and ready to be placed in the sacks accounts for its being saved.

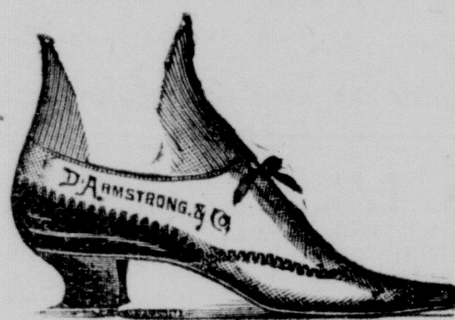

None of the passengers were hurt though a number were considerably shaken up. One lady who was standing in the aisle putting on her hat enlivened the occasion with some very choice acrobatics.

The Denison fire department started to the conflagration, thinking that it was in the suburbs of the city.

The injured clerks arrived in Sedalia this morning and are now at the hospital.

ADJOURNED.

Peoples' Convention Over and Delegates Gone Home—Last Night.

The peoples' party convention, after a session of two days, adjourned yesterday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, and most of the delegates departed on the 6 o'clock trains for their respective homes. Those who remained however, some 75 or 100 in number, assembled at the court house after supper and held a sort of a love feast. Several speeches were made and as many songs sung. The meeting was opened by a vocal selection, Mr. Thomas, of Dallas county, leading while the audience joined in the chorus.

Mr. Demeree was the first speaker. He said that the peoples' party was dead. ("Where d'you hear it?" some one asked derisively.) "I heard it out in Atchinson, Kansas, last week" replied the imperturbable gentleman. "Something singular about this demise too," the gentleman continued in a voice of sarcasm: "the party has not yet been buried."

"Another peculiarity is that it is the only dead thing that ever walked in its own funeral cortege."

Mr. Thomas here briefly reviewed the various forms of ancient government and said that men were cowards—instinctively passing by propositions which forboded trouble if tampered with. The day has about come though, when this disposition has been supplanted by bravery, and regardless of the results that might accrue from their demands the American people in the might of manhood were going to rise up from the treadmill of financial despair.

The speaker was followed by Leverett Leonard whom the chairman introduced as the next governor of Missouri. "Contrary to the boasted predictions of the anti-reformers, who said our party would be shortly squelched, there have in the past seven months been started 776 party papers which have been founded to record our death. I take this evidence alone as an indication that our growth is phenomenal."

Mr. Leonard reviewed the state of financial depression as it exists among the masses, and said that in order to lift themselves up it was not sufficient for the people to remain passive. The power that caused the depression is strong and unless a counter force equally as potent were introduced the people might expect to be down-trodden the rest of their days. The peoples party, Mr. Leonard was sanguine to announce, was the remedy.

This state of affairs brought about by the rich of this country could not much longer exist. Indeed a crisis was liable to be precipitated at any time; "and when it comes," continued the gentleman, "I don't believe it will come peacefully. A solution of the problem must come though, whether by the bullet or the ballot."

The following resolution was adopted just before the convention adjourned yesterday:

Resolved, That this convention return its thanks to the good people of Sedalia for their kind hospitality, and especially to the committee of arrangements, whose untiring efforts have added to our comfort.

In the future they will close their shops at 7 o'clock sharp every night during the hot weather, with the exception of Saturdays, when they will keep open till 12, and pay-days and during fair week in August.

This will be a boon to the hard worked knights of the shears and it is hoped they will enjoy their rest to their hearts' content.

AMUSEMENTS.

Cleveland's Minstrels.

The opera house will be occupied June 25th by Cleveland's consolidated minstrels.

Everybody and everything are promised to be absolutely new, and not only to possess novelty but genuine artistic ability.

Manager Cleveland is always alive to the wants of the people, and he fully appreciates the facts of the case, that seeing the same old faces and hearing the same old gags is more than tiresome.

This season he commences in a glow of unusual brightness with a great congregation of mirth provokers, singers and a host of foreign specialists.

The stage settings and effects will be fully up to Mr. Cleveland's standard of sumptuous stagings.

A special feature has been made of the vocal corps, which, it is promised, will eclipse any of Mr. Cleveland's former efforts.

At Parsons.

Miss Anna Lyons and Miss Phe Highleyman, of Sedalia, are visiting in the city, the guests of Mrs. C. A. Kasbach and Mrs. Lucy Darrow. . . . S. G. Gentry, late of the Missouri Pacific passenger department, is now chief rate clerk in the M., K. & T. passenger department in this city.—Parsons Sun.

GOODY, HERE COMES

The EVENING DEMOCRAT.

the tea equipage."—ADDISON.

MURRAH for Grover Cleveland and tariff reform.

The ratification by the democratic club will be a hummer.

TAXATION for public purposes only is the democratic doctrine.

THE protected monopolies will have to give down the "fat" now.

MISSOURI will give 40,000 majority for Cleveland and tariff reform.

CONGRATULATIONS to Blaine for having escaped sure defeat are now order.

THE contest in Missouri is between the democratic and republican parties. Remember that.

OUR third party friends will succeed in helping Warner to the extent of the vote they poll this state.

THE nomination of Cleveland challenges the protected barons to their worst. There is no sham about it.

THE EVENING DEMOCRAT is receiving practical demonstration of the fact that the people appreciate good paper at the low price of ten cents per week.

THE DEMOCRAT leads all competitors in giving the real news of the day while it is fresh, and leads competitors too in giving the people a paper at the popular price ten cents per week.

It is not yet too late for Sedalia to arrange for a genuine, old fashioned Fourth of July celebration.
It will take a little work to make it a celebration what it should be, but it is worth what it will cost.

NEW YORK now has an opportunity to show her devotion to democratic principles. If the state is left to the democracy it will be a time before another democratic presidential candidate is taken from New York.

MISSOURI democrats have no reason to fear the third party movement in this state. The administration of Governor Francis has been wise, conservative, honest and clean and is endorsed by a large majority of the people of the state.

The democratic platform declares for lower taxes and more money.
It is sound democratic doctrine and ad between the lines means a parture from the republican policy of legislating for the few and the adoption of the principle of legislating for the many.

The political campaign this year promises to be one of issues and arguments, rather than one of sectional prejudices or personal slander and vilification. The men who believe in taxing the masses to build up certain industries must meet face to face those who believe that just taxation must be for public purposes alone. The policy of the government is to be determined at the ballot box, and the truly patriotic American citizen will strive to rid himself of prejudice and vote as his conscience dictates.

The welfare, the happiness and the prosperity of the masses is what governments are organized to secure.

CLEVELAND AGAIN.

The practical unanimity with which Grover Cleveland was nominated for the presidency by the Chicago convention last night tells most emphatically of the strong hold he has upon the confidence and affection of the American people.
Thousands who differ from him in their views of public questions were enthusiastic for his nomination.

"Here," they say, "is an honest man, a brave man, a man who is above all trickery and demagoguery, and who will do what his conscience tells him is right at all times and under all circumstances.
He is a man of the people and the people will sustain him."

This is the source of Cleveland's strength, and this feeling of supreme confidence in his integrity, courage and independence nominated him under conditions and in spite of opposition that would have defeated any other man.

His nomination shows his wonderful popularity as no other event could have shown it; the fact that he received more than two-thirds of the votes of a democratic convention in spite of the opposition of the ablest politicians in the party, is the very strongest evidence that the masses are determined to elect him.

As the standard bearer of the party he will create greater enthusiasm than any other man, and the strong personality that gave him his majority in the convention will give him a majority also at the polls.

In common with others, the DEM-OCRAT has believed that a stronger candidate could be named; but the overwhelming majority in the convention shows that there could have been no more popular candidate.

The people have tested Cleveland's wisdom and patriotism and, contrasting his administration with that of Harrison, there can be no doubt as to the result.

Major Warner is the ablest and best man that has been nominated for governor of Missouri for twenty years or more. Every Missourian that loves his state ought to vote for Warner and work for his election.—Boonville Republican.

It is perhaps natural that party prejudice should cause a partisan newspaper to imagine that the candidate of its own party is "a better man" than the candidate of the opposition, but the adulation with which the republican press views Warner is anything but complimentary to the republican candidates of former years, and the above is a sample of it. In what respect is Warner "a better man" than the lamented Kimball who led the republican hosts four years ago? In what respect is he an abler man than D.
Pat Dyer or several of the republican nominees for governor in former years? Are not such assertions as the Republican makes above really insults to the men who have been leaders in the past? There are a great many republicans who believe that Warner is not a divinity to be worshiped as the congregated wisdom and virtue of the party, and they get tired and want to go off and sit down and get cool when they read such paragraphs as the one quoted above.

The democratic national convention has named Grover Cleveland as the standard bearer in the coming campaign. Now let all differences be forgotten and let the supporters of the various candidates vie with the original Cleveland men in zeal for party success. And the Cleveland men, too, have a duty to perform. Let the fight on Hill cease; let the fight on Tammany be dropped, and let Hill and his friends have an opportunity to support the nominee without being harassed with a fire from the rear

A FEW weeks ago, says the Fayette Advertiser, a Missouri girl in packing eggs wrote her name on one of them, and away off in California it fell into the hands of a young man, who immediately started a correspondence. Last week he packed his trunk and came to Missouri to claim his bride. This is believed to be the first time in the history of Missouri that an egg ever hatched out a wedding. But don't be surprised at anything in Missouri. She even expects to make a Stone governor.

OUR third party friends have completed their ticket and adjourned.
Probably not a single delegate present expects that party to elect one of its candidates for the state offices or a single one of its congressional candidates in Missouri. Practically a vote for the candidates named is a vote thrown away or cast in the air.

No DEMOCRAT will vote for Harrison and Reid this year, says the Moberly Democrat, no matter how much he dislikes the democratic nominee. The force bill is in sight and insures a united democracy regardless of factional differences.

MISSOURI AND NEW YORK.

Some Plain Talk to the Governor of the Empire State.

From the Star.
Scarcely had the Mississippi delegation reached its rooms at the Grand Pacific when Governor Flower of New York visited it. He made a Hill speech. "If you knew Senator Hill as I know him, you would admire him as I do," said Governor Flower. "He is the pluckiest, nerviest leader you ever saw. He has never been beaten.
When he goes into a fight it is to win. If he is nominated now he will win. We want to win. To win we will have to carry New York.
Senator Hill is the only man who can do it."

Whereat, a long, bronzed trans-mississippi democrat spoke. "I never was on New York soil," said he. "I live 1,000 miles from New York, but I am tired of hearing nothing but New York and what New York wants. At every democratic convention it's the same way.
You come here with your dirty little quarrels and embroil everybody.
It's always Tammany or anti-Tammany. It's about time for democracy to turn New York down and make her stop dictating to the party. I think we ought to shut both your men out and elect a president without trying to please either Tammany or anti-Tammany."

New York's governor was angry.
"You talk as though you lived 1,500 instead of 1,000 miles from New York," he said.

"I come from Missouri," said the tall man.

"You act like it," sneered Flower.
"Old Missouri is a good state to come from," retorted the tall man hotly. "We elect the democratic ticket there and we don't ask the whole country and party to tear themselves up about it, nor do we bring our dirty linen to wash before the eyes of the world at a national convention," and the tall man stalked out.

"Who is that?" some one asked.
"That's Martin Clardy, of Missouri," was the reply.

One Thing he Can't Whip.
A dispatch from Boston says that John L. Sullivan broke loose again yesterday. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon he arrived at the Tremont house, and at once became ruler of everything in sight.
He had several thousand dollars in his pocket, which he had won on the races, and he came home to celebrate his good luck. He sang songs, recited short passages from "Honest Hearts," and wound up by challenging the earth. "Give me just one swipe at the man in the moon," he shouted, "and I'll bet you a thousand there won't be a moon left, see?" Crowds came to see John Barleycorn's great match with John L.

Flowers in Needed Places.
I am rather tired of seeing all the flowers at weddings and funerals; we need a few in between, writes Mrs. Bottom in her department of "King's Daughters" in the July Ladies' Home Journal. Maybe a few flowers put into the hand when it was warm, instead of when icy cold, might have kept the hands warm a little longer. Anyway, it would have made the heart that has ceased to beat, a little lighter.

Visitors to Sedalia should call at the Opera House bar for the best in the city.

The Road Question Again.

From the Journal of Agriculture.

We are glad to note that the agitation of the road question is bearing fruit; but we have not yet been able to incite any general discussion of the proposition to use the convicts to build roads. When the press of work is over, we hope that the farmers will give the matter their most thoughtful attention. It is a great subject; second in importance to no other in which the interests of farmers are concerned.

While the convict proposition has not met with much consideration, other plans are being proposed and considered. One farmer has suggested as a way of solving the great problem, the following:

"Let the state issue 3 per cent.
bonds to the amount of $5,000,000.
Let the legislature authorize each township to vote a tax of five per cent. on its assessment and also authorize the expenditure of that tax in any part of the country, thus enabling a city to spend the tax outside its limits. Suppose the average cost per mile of road is $2,500.
Whenever six miles of road is built under the direction of the county court, in accordance with a plan prepared by a state engineer, let the state pay half the amount of the cost of these six miles, not to exceed $1,250 per mile. This would necessitate the raising by tax or otherwise of $7,200 by the locality where the six miles were built.
Wherever the tax was not sufficient the remainder could be raised by private subscription or by contributions from other townships or other cities that would be benefitted by the road that was built."

This plan involves some points well worthy of thought. In view of the fact that the towns profit as much as the country, by having good roads, it is certainly wise that provision should be made whereby incorporated towns may raise money by taxation to be spent outside of their own borders.

The wisdom of the state raising money by general tax to build roads is of more questionable utility.
We are disposed to believe that the policy adopted in paving cities, under which a front foot assessment pays for street improvements, will be found only just and feasible system. And this method is evidently being adopted already in some localities in the state.

From a Monroe county paper we learn that the Monroe City and the farmers of that vicinity have raised $2,400 and the Monroe county court will add as much more toward building gravel roads leading into the city. It is certainly a most commendable undertaking.
Paris has also caught up the spirit of progress and, it is reported, has $2,500 subscribed for the same purpose without any aid from the farmers, who will probably more than double it.

Now, if all the other counties of the state will catch the infection, we shall soon have a great improvement in the roads of Missouri.

Another Extension.

A bill has been introduced by Senator Perkins at Washington, authorizing the Kansas City and Pacific Railway company to construct a line of railway through the Indian territory and Oklahoma, beginning at the present terminus of the road, a point about five miles south of Coffeyville, Kan., and running thence through the Indian territory and Oklahoma, to the south line of these territories, at or near the North Fork of the Red river.

This line is at present operated by the M., K. & T., and the proposed extension will enter a country from which immense shipments of cattle can be expected.

A Cool Drink of Water.

The mineral well at Forest park is a great treat to the thirsty Seda-lian. It contains a large per cent. of iron magnesia. A water more pleasant to the taste could not be imagined. Its medical qualities are said to be remarkable.

A Young Baby Deer.

The deer enclosure at Forest park has a new tenant—a beautiful baby deer that made its appearance a few days ago. Take the childer out and let them see the deer.

Appeal Would Be Useless.

From the Springfield Republican.
The republicans have failed in their attempt to overthrow the Minter election law in Michigan, the supreme court having pronounced it constitutional. This is the law which provides for the choice of presidential electors by districts, and which is relied upon to give the democrats at least half of the electors of the state. There has never been much reason for believing that the court would decide other than it did, for the legislature acted under the constitutional provision which give each state the right to determine the manner in which its electors are to be chosen.
There has been talk of appealing to the supreme court of the United States in case the state court sustained the law, but such an appeal would almost certainly be useless, for the republicans can make no stronger case against the law than they already have. What remains now is to test this district method of choosing electors, and if it works well in Michigan other states will be likely to adopt it.

BUT ONE BALLOT

And Cleveland Received the Presidential Nomination.

EARLY HOUR ON THURSDAY MORNING.

Hill Received 112 Votes and Boies 103.
While There Were Others Scattering—Chairman Wilson's Speech and Also the Platform

CHICAGO, June 23.—At 10 o'clock yesterday the yawning chasms in the great galleries encircling the delegates' well in the convention hall were being occupied by early comers. Showers during the night had washed yesterday's smoke from the air and the sun shone brightly between the joists that upheld the roof of the wigwam. The band came early and began business at once. When the hour for the session came 15,000 faces were seen in the galleries and upon the floor of the convention.

The delegations came mostly as individuals, although the New Yorkers marched to their places in the center of the hall amid cheers.

The committee on rules was still in session, considering whether it would fix the rules so that states which had adopted the unit rule since arriving at the convention should be permitted to vote solidly or not. It was insisted by the subcommittee that formulated the rules that the proposed unit rule was not intended to affect Cleveland's candidacy.

At exactly 11:30 o'clock Rev. Alfred H. Henry, of Chicago, was presented by Chairman Owens to offer prayer.

When the preacher had ceased his prayer there was a hesitating rattle of hand clapping away off under one gallery. It was caught up and grew to a cheer.

The committee on credentials announced that it would not be ready until 2 o'clock, and the committee on resolutions was called and passed, not being ready.

Delegates Bronson, of Kentucky, and English, of Indiana, were made a committee to learn when the credentials committee would report.

Roger Q. Mills entered the hall and there went up a shout and it changed from Mills to Hill.

Then a band of elacquers for Hill in the galleries taking hold made a Hill chorus.

Upon motion of Thomas H. Johnson,
the single tax senator of Ohio, Mr. Mills was invited to address the convention, but he was reported not well enough to speak and soon left the hall for his hotel.

Delegate Young, of Michigan, leaping upon his chair, moved that Senator Palmer, of Illinois, be invited to address the convention. A committee sought Mr. Palmer, and when the gray haired senator was seen coming down the aisle to the desk a cheer went up which soon grew into a roar. "Gentlemen," cried Chairman Owens, "it is not necessary for me to introduce to you this war horse of democracy."

Mr. Palmer put his hearers in pleasant mood at once by a comical story and some light comments on the crowd.
The keynote of his talk was unity and co-operation. "We want," he said, "no skulkers in the great fight; every man must work." The sentiment was cheered roundly.

"Select a solid, firm democrat for this contest, put the banner in his hand and then rally about him," said Mr. Palmer.
"Hill is the man," came a voice from up in the shadows beneath the roof and the name of the New Yorker was caught up and shouted until from the sea of faces in the lower regions a shrill hiss shot out into the clamor of sound. It grew and grew until the cheers and hisses died away in a quiet one could hear.

When the aged speaker claimed Illinois would be democratic the shouts were wild.

Col. Fellows, in response to calls, delegated he would speak at the proper time, but not at present.

The credentials committee then announced that it was ready to report and John E. Lamb, of Indiana, presented an unanimous report. Sitting Delegate Barnard, of the First Ohio district, was seated. In Utah C. L. Henderson and John T. Cain were seated. In New Mexico and Arizona claims of each to seat six delegates were conceded and in Alabama the contesting delegates were given seats on the floor without votes.

Norris and Davis were seated from the District of Columbia.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.
At 12:15 o'clock in the afternoon the convention was ready for permanent organization. The report of the committee was called for and read. It named William L.
Wilson, of West Virginia, as permanent chairman, S. P.
Sheerin as permanent secretary and a list of assistants and vice presidents and secretaries by states.

On motion of Don
M. Dickinson a committee of five was delegated (himself being named by the chair as the head of the committee) to notify the permanent officers of their election and escort them to the platform.

While the crowd waited the hall was darkened by outer clouds and rain came dashing through the skylights and the band played catchy music.

At 12:25 p. m. Mr. Owens introduced the permanent chairman, Mr. Wilson, as one of the bravest democrats of the nation.

As soon as the applause had subsided Mr. Wilson spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: I thank you most heartily for this honor. I shall try to meet the duties of the high position to which you call me with the spirit of fairness and equality that is demanded. This convention has a high and patriotic work to do. We owe much to our party; we owe much to our country.

The mission of the democratic party is to fight for the underdog. When that party is out of power we may be sure that there is an underdog to fight for, and that the underdog is exactly the American people. When that party is out of power we may be sure that some party is in control of our government that represents a section and not the whole country; that stands for a class and not for the whole people. Never was this truth brought home to us more definitely than by the recent convention at Minneapolis. We are not deceived as to the temper, we are not in doubt as to the motives of our opponents. Having taxed us for years without excuse and without mercy, they now propose to disarm us of further power to resist their exactions.

Republican success in this campaign, when we look to the party platform, the party candidates, the utterances of the party leaders, means that the people are to be stripped of their franchise through force bills in order that they may be stripped of their substance through tariff bills. Free government is the right of the people. There is no self government where the people do not control their own elections and levy their own taxes. When either of these rights is taken away or diminished a breach is made, not in the outer defenses, but in the citadel of freedom. For years we have struggled to recover the lost right of taxing ourselves, and now we are threatened with the loss of the great right of governing ourselves. The loss of one follows in necessary sequence the loss of the other. What is the confer on the government the power of dealing out wealth to unchain every evil that can prey upon and eventually destroy free institutions—excessive taxation, class taxation, billing of congresses, a corrupt police service, a debauched judiciary and purchased elections.
In every republican campaign the privilege of taxing the people will be bartered for contributions to corrupt them at the polls, after every victory a new McKinley bill to repay the contributions with taxes will be wrung from the people. For every self-governing people there can be no more momentous question than the question of taxation. It is the question, as Mr. Burke truly said, around which all the great battles of freedom have been fought.
The question of who shall tax the people is the question of who shall control the government.
Until we settle this question wisely, permanently, justly, we build all other reform on a foundation of sand.

We and the great party we represent are today for tariff reform because it is the only way to genuine democratic government. The distinguished leader who presided over the republican convention boasted that he did not know what tariff reform was. Who ever said that he did? Let us hope with that charity that endures all things and believes all things, that he is truly ignorant.

Mr. McKinley further charges that the democratic party believes in taxing our selves. I am afraid, gentlemen, we must admit that we are taxed. The right or excuse have we for taxing anybody else? With a continent for a country, with freedom and intelligence as the instruments for its development, we stand disgraced in the eyes of mankind if we cannot and if we do not support our own government. We can throw that support on other people only by beggary or by force. If we use the one we are a pauper nation. If we use the other we are a pirate nation. The democratic party does not intend that we should be either. No more does it intend that they should be. They shall fairly call it taking other people to transfer our taxes from the possessions of those who own the property to the country to the bellies and backs of those who do the work of the country. It believes that frugality is the essential virtue of free government. It believes that taxes should be limited to needs and levied by plain justice and economy.

When we are confronted by a new cry in this campaign. The republican party says Gov. McKinley, now stands for protection and reciprocity. He was for protection alone when he framed his bill in the house, or rather permitted his beneficiaries to frame it for him, and firmly resisted all efforts of the statesman from Maine to annex reciprocity to it. No wonder that he favors the reciprocity added by the senate. You may explore the pages of burlesque literature for anything more supremely ludicrous than the so-called reciprocity of the McKinley bill. It is not reciprocity at all. It is retaliation, and worst of all, it retaliates on our people. It punishes American citizens for the necessities or the follies of other people. It says to small countries south of it: "You are forced by your necessities, or led by your follies, to make bread highest and sugar to your people; we will make shoes and sugar higher and sugar to your people." And now we are told that reciprocity is to be their battle cry.

Already we are regaled with pictures of Ben Harrison in armor and going forth to battle for reciprocity, as planned steed. Simple Simon fishing for whales in his mother's rain barrel and in great triumph capturing an occasional wiggle-waggle of the tail, realistic picture of the reciprocity of the McKinley tariff. We are for the protection that protects, and for the reciprocity that reciprocates. We are in favor of protecting every man in the country from the hand of his neighbor, and we are in favor of his proper contribution to the support of the government, and we are in favor of protection for that real reciprocity, not the fictitious reciprocity of the McKinley tariff.
We are in favor of the protection that protecting the people, and we are in favor of the reciprocity that reciprocates the people.

But, gentlemen, I must not keep you from the work that is before you. Let us take up that work as patriots, as democrats. In so large a convention as this, with more members than any previous gathering of our party, and representing a larger constituency than ever before assembled in any convention, it would be strange, ominously strange, if there were some differences of opinion on matters of policy, and some differences of judgment or of preference as to the choice of candidates. It is the sin of a free democracy, my voted and within the limits of true freedom. It wears no collars; it serves no masters. We must of necessity have that many who have before followed our flag with enthusiasm are to-day calling with excusable impatience, for immediate relief from the evils that encompass them. Whatever can be done to relieve the people, to increase the prosperity of the people, and every part of them, within the limits and according to the principle of free government, that the democratic party dares to promise that it will do. It is not its might. Whatever is better than the policy of the McKinley government and our historic liberty it dares not promise to any one. Inevitable evils in the body politic cannot be cured in a moment, any more than inveterate diseases in the human body. We must have patience that power to do so is himself deceived or deceived. Our party is not a quick or a worker of miracles.

It is not for me, gentlemen, the impartial servant of you all, to attempt to foreshadow what your choice should be or ought to be in the selection of your candidates. You must select under your own sense of responsibility to the people you represent and your country. One thing I can say, and say. Whoever may be your chosen leader in this campaign, no telegram will flash across the continent, no word of absent-tongued lords to congratulate him.
But from the home of labor, from the fireside of the farmer, from the shop of the craftsman, from the city of the mechanic, and from the commonwealth of all our people, and the common opportunity of all our youth, will come up prayers for his success and records for the great democratic struggle down the Moloch of monopoly, before we can have over again a people's government, run by the people's faithful representatives.

The roll was then ordered called for the naming by states of their national committees and members of the notification committee.

Mr. Wilson's declaration that the democratic party would never permit this to become either a pauper or a pirate nation was cheered roundly.

The statement that the reciprocity of the McKinley bill meant rather retaliation against our own people was applauded heartily. Simple Simon fishing for whales in his mother's rain barrel and catching an occasional wiggle-waggle aroused laughter and shouts of applause. Quick, impetuous shouts greeted the statement that the democratic candidate would not receive congratulations from the foreign castles of protection barons of this country.

Mr. Wilson closed at 12:45 and Wm.
H. English, of Indiana, presented the report of the committee on rules, which established this order of business: Report of credentials committee; report of permanent organization; committee on rules; resolutions and platform committee report; nomination of presidential and vice-presidential candidates. Rules of the last national democratic convention were adopted.
Upon motion of Mr. English the reports and recommendations were adopted by the convention. The unit rule heretofore in force therefore holds in this convention.

Delegate Phelps, of Missouri, then presented in behalf of the miners of Missouri a gavel of zinc as a protest against the tariff upon the metal. As the shining hammer was held aloft by the chairman a great shout went up and a hearty clapping of hands.

While the list was being made up ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, was called for persistently and the band played "The Campbells are coming." Finally the ex-governor yielded, and taking the platform, spoke less than five minutes closing with this admonition to the national democracy: "When November rolls around keep your eyes on Ohio." This was violently cheered and the ex-governor withdrew to his place in the delegation.

W. U. Henzel, Pennsylvania's attorney-general, was called for, but declined to speak.

Upon motion of Delegate Davis, of Ohio, a committee was sent to learn when the committee on resolutions would be prepared to report and ex-Gov. Taylor and Henry Watterson were called for by the hosts who were clamorous for entertainment. Clamorous calls were also made for Bourke Cockran but the latter said he would have business with the convention later on and thought all should get dinner if there was no business.

Don Dickinson then made a motion that the convention take a recess till 5 o'clock and the convention agreed at 1:46 to do so.

EVENING SESSION.

Rev. Thomas Reed, of Cedar Rapids, Ia., was presented at 5:35 p. m. and offered prayer.

THE PLATFORM.

The following is the platform as adopted:

Section 1. The representatives of the democratic party of the United States in national convention assembled in St. Louis, Mo., do reaffirm the principles of the party as formulated by Jefferson and exemplified by a long and illustrious line of his successors in democratic leadership from Madison to Cleveland; we believe the public welfare demands that these principles be applied to the conduct of the national government through the accession to power of the party that advocates them; and we solemnly declare that the need of a return to those fundamental principles of a free popular government based on home rule and individual liberty, was never more urgent than now, when the tendency to centralize all power at the federal capital has become a menace of the reserved rights of the states that strikes at the very roots of our government under the constitution as framed by the republic.

Section 2. We warn the people of our common country, jealous for the preservation of their free institutions that the policy of federal constitutionalism, based on the reserved rights of the states, is a menace to the liberties of the people. We demand that the policy of federal constitutionality be maintained, and we demand that the policy of federal constitutionality be maintained, and we demand that the policy of federal constitutionality be maintained, and we

THE EXPRESSIONS REGARDING CLEVELAND'S NOMINATION.Representative Citizens Think That Democratic Victory is Ensured.Below the DEMOCRAT publishes the sentiment of representative democrats regarding Cleveland's nomination:C. Honkomp: "Cleveland will win. He is the democrat of democrats."Judge Rauck wanted a western man and thought democratic victory depended on the way New York goes. "However," remarked he, "Cleveland can easily win."C. I. Pinkham, people's party candidate for congress from this district, said that while Harrison would be troubled by the blame factions, yet Cleveland would be placed at the same disadvantage by the Tammanyites. "I like Cleveland better though," he continued, "and am of the opinion that Harrison will be defeated."Adam Ittle was a fellow townsman with Cleveland in Buffalo for several years and lived in the same ward with him. He was highly pleased with his former personal friend's nomination and said that it meant victory for the party.Senator Richardson: "Cleveland would carry the country by one-fourth of a million if the election were submitted to the popular vote. He is the people's favorite.
Hill will fall in line all right."Mont-Carnes: "I am for the democratic nominee whether he be a personal favorite of mine or not. It so happens this time that I have a man whom I can support personally and politically. Harrison with his limited free trade (for that's what reciprocity is) is not in it."Jack Gibbs: "Cleveland is all right. Harmony will prevail when the campaign begins, and we will win."Frank B. Meyer: "Cleveland is the greatest living American. The Tammany faction will become reconciled to the party and New York will wisely go democratic."Col. T. P. Hoy: "Cleveland suits my taste exactly. I am certain that he will win."Ed M. Marvin: "I think Cleveland will carry New York; but even if he doesn't, he is of such wonderful personal popularity that he will be elected anyway."T. A. Fowler: "Cleveland is the only man whom the masses took into consideration for the nomination, though there was other available material. He will surely win."Hanly Pilkington: "The democracy has a cinch with Cleveland at the head of the ticket. Will carry New York in spite of fate and high water."Sam Ross: "Hill nor Mr. Tammany nor no other power can defeat Grover Cleveland."Bob Gray: "I have not wavered for four years. When I became doubtful all I had to do was to look at that picture (pointing to wall of his office) and that caused hope eternal to spring in my breast. Cleveland is the prince of modern statesmen and will be elected president."Dr. Small said Cleveland suited him. "His popularity assures his election."Dr. Fleishman: "Cleveland is the man. The Tammanyites can't afford and are too wise to go against him. He'll carry New York and be president."J. W. Baldwin: "The nomination could not have been bettered.
Cleveland is a sure winner this time."Mayor E. W. Stevens expressed himself as much gratified at the result of the nominations and eulogized Cleveland to the skies, declar-ing that not since Washington, has America produced a greater man.V. P. Hart, as everybody knows, has always been an enthusiastic advocate of Cleveland and he could hardly contain himself when the news of the nomination reached him.County Treasurer Hughes said that Cleveland would win so surely as night succeeds the day.G. W. Barnett said that he was eminently satisfied and was of the opinion that Cleveland would be the next chief executive of the nation.W. D. Steel has always been a Cleveland man, and said that he would be elected with or without Tammany's support.

FOURTH OF JULY.

SEDALIA SHOULD CELEBRATE
THIS DAY OF ALL DAYS.Let Her Citizens Have a Mass Meeting and Prepare for a Glorious Time.For several years past, the people of Sedalia have allowed the glorious Fourth of July to pass by unobserved and without an effort to distinguish it from the ordinary, routine days of the week. Many attended celebrations at other cities while others simply laid aside their work and "waited for to-morrow."The subject of a big celebration was started in a prominent hotel corridor last night and the crowd called Judge Metsker to the floor to see what he would do in the matter.
The genial judge was strongly of the opinion that Sedalia should celebrate and would offer every inducement possible by tendering the use of Forest park for the occasion and seeing that the matter of transportation was reduced to a minimum.Here is an opportunity to give vent to pent up enthusiasm and give a Fourth of July celebration that will be a credit to the city and a pleasure to her citizens. There is no lack of material for having a good time. We have eloquent orators without number, fine music and means of giving a great display of fire works. Forest park is an ideal place for such an event, as it is easy of access, cool, well shaded and has an unlimited supply of the finest water to be found in the country.There is plenty of time to perfect arrangements and there is no reason why we should not celebrate.

JIM BUTLER'S WATCH.

A Pullman Conductor Has Stolen Time Piece and Is Arrested.When the St. Louis delegates and visitors were returning home on the night train from the democratic state convention in Sedalia, a big howl and consternation was raised when it was found that the light fingered gentry had gotten in their work and plucked the crowd and stolen watches and diamonds without respect for either name or station. Jim Butler, the noted St.
Louis politician, was one of the heaviest losers, and with tears in his eyes bewailed the loss of an elegant diamond studded gold watch presented to him by friends. Yesterday in St. Louis Detectives Flynn and Badger arrested Walter H. Lemond, a Pullman car conductor, on suspicion of having stolen a watch he had in his possession. On examining it, it was found to bear the inscription, "Presented to James J. Butler by His Friends of the Second Ward."Mr. Butler is now doubtless happy while Lemond is in a very tight box.

BRIDAL TOUR.

Two Happy Passengers on the East Bound Train at Noon.The east bound train at noon carried two happy passengers who up till Tuesday afternoon were known as Mr. Samuel Jones and Miss Mary Miller, but who now sustain the relation of man and wife. The happy couple were on their way to Boonville where they go to visit the groom's parents.The bride's parents live at Blackwater, Saline county where the ceremony was performed by Rev.
W. H. Cook of Warrensburg.The groom makes Marshall his headquarters and has a lucrative position with the Boonville branch of the Missouri Pacific railroad.Mr. and Mrs. Small will be at home, Marshall, after June 25th.

A Sworn Affidavit.

An affidavit was made by Miss Rosa B. Clinger, of Knobnoster, and J. M. Stafford, of Green Ridge, before J. H. Knaus, notary public,at the former place yesterday which definitely settles the ugly stories that have been circulated concerning them.Miss Clinger stated that at no time has Mr. Stafford had improper relations with her, nor has his conduct been such as to offend her.The friends of Mr. Stafford are glad to know that their confidence in his integrity has been upheld and now dismiss the matter.

MAKING THE ROUNDS.

Vice-President Purdy Has Made a Close Inspection of the M., K. & T.

From the Parsons Sun.

Vice-President Purdy and General Superintendent Frey, of the M., K. & T. railroad, returned yesterday from a ten days' trip over the system south of this city. This is the first time Vice-President Purdy has been over the system and the trip was purely a business one, in which he looked minutely into the affairs of the company in the various departments connected with the operating department and making the acquaintance of the men under him. Everything was found to be in the best of condition and working entirely satisfying to the best interests of company. Vice-President Purdy is not of a loquacious nature, but from those who have had occasion to meet him, he is regarded as a man possessed of more than ordinary railroad ability and an eye the scope of which is by no means small. He has now made a tour of every division of the road and familiarized himself with the various departments under him, and if any changes are to be made the people may expect to hear of them before long.

A New Conductor.

Bob Halstead has taken a position on the electric street railway and will now punch tickets on car No. 10, running to East Sedalia.The Faust beer always on tap at the Opera House bar. It is the coolest and best in the city.Something new, Banana Ice Cream at Court House Market.

"Who Was the Winner? You Bet!"

One of the liveliest political discussions during the present campaign occurred in a bar room on Ohio street this morning. Both disputants were of a good size and they proceeded to embellish each other's mug in the most approved style. No blood was drawn and the contestants finally concluded that it was too warm to continue.
